CONNECTING GROUP TO OUTSIDE WORLD

Living in an age of extremely competitive and unpredictable business environment urges to maintain stability in the organization by the connecting group to outside world. A big part of having a competitive edge is by having leaders connected to the outside world. These leaders identify others (both people and functions) within and outside the organization whose cooperation is pivotal to organizational success. They ask customers for information about how they use the organization's services. Most of all, they take advantage of the access others have to information and others networks.

Atlas is the primordial titan who carried the world on his back and was responsible for carrying the weight of the heavens. Atyaasaa similarly believes in hand holding its clients to achieve business excellence. This intervention helps the individual to know how to deliver products or services that delight customers by meeting and exceeding their expectations and also encourages the use of knowledge and feedback from an external perspective to improve products or services. This organization development 'connecting groups to outside world' process is a catalyst for systematic change progression to benefit the organizations as well as the stakeholders.
